PART 2 – H THRU N – 111 SLIDES

Note: This is an album of profound illustrated captions which I had the good fortune of stumbling upon, gathering up through a month of effort and receiving the authors, Emmanuel S. John's permission to use and share without alteration. Most of the images are created by Emmanuel S. John.

Jack Venrick

I have yet to see a definition of happiness that suggested the life of the individual who was experiencing it was free from burden, worry or stress. If you are having trouble finding happiness and you believe these experiences are mutually exclusive then that just might be the problem.

Acceptance that burdens will occur and that they are a part of a full life is the only path to balance and peace of mind.

Emmanuel S. John

No one gets out of life alive!

Either "Hate Groups" get to exist or not; you don't get to pick the color. Either the freedom to believe what ones wants exists or it doesn't; you don't get to judge which beliefs are acceptable and which ones aren't. That is Intolerance!

You don't have to be wounded

The problem is that people in the modern era are so

Dishonesty has been institutionalized in the modern world but only because we allow it to be.

Politicians have figured out something very important (to them).

They know that if they can keep the people polarized, separated and mad at one another, then the people can't unite to be mad at them.

You see, they know that if unity happens they'll be the ones out of work or maybe even in jail.

The worst thing that could happen to a Republic is that agencies of that Republic would become arms of a political party.

Sadly, several agencies of our Republic have become arms of the Democrat Party.

The day this happened is the day this Republic failed; the day it ceased being a Republic.

Proof of this continued failure is that it is still happening without appropriate redress.

The United States is no longer a Republic.

~~Democrat Party~~ Identitarian Party

Identity politics is what your party focuses on when you have no new ideas and you know it's about to implode; it's the last gasp effort of the politically desperate.

Dear DEMS

I wanted to write you a letter of sympathy because I know the road ahead will be bumpy for all of you. I know you are going to be forced to see things in the light of day. You will see that the things you have been convinced of about economics were lies; that you were played. We know your struggle as the last 8 years have been hell; we have some helpful advice. First, the most important thing you will learn over the next 8 years is how deeply you have been programmed to believe ideological lies. You will be abruptly awoken from your echo chamber slumber by these stark truths because the people who perpetuated the lies you believe will no longer have the power to keep them going. We know that finding out that you folks are the intolerant ones, the hateful ones, and the narrow minded self-centered ones will be overwhelming at times. Don't fight it; acceptance is the answer to all your emotionality. Go with the flow, just SUCK IT UP BUTTERCUP! Get over yourself and focus on getting one of those new jobs that your old ideologue friends couldn't create.

(While it may seem like it no snowflakes actually melted during this message. No safe zones or therapy dogs were required to get this point across.)

Ideology divides, Values unite.

What we are seeing in our society is the result of what I describe in my book as "Ideological Contagions."

These contagions have grown and festered thanks to unrealistic and unproven political ideology.

The current cultural climate is the direct result of selfish, self-serving agendas that have always manifested in division and discord; even civil war. The current cultural climate is what evolves when unrealistic ideology is deceptively delivered to the minds of the people via educational indoctrination, media propaganda and leadership malfeasance. This is what happens when political self-centered ideology is put before the actual real needs of a society or its people.

This is what our current leadership with their finite wisdom and narrow vision has achieved for us.

As a psychotherapist for decades I've gained a very valuable insight. That insight being that we are not as complicated as we like to think we are. Some of the most significant struggles that humans endure can be healed and remedied with minimal effort. The key is that they come to understand that a different mindset awaits them if they are willing to perceive themselves differently.

KNOW FEAR

Fear does not want you to be OK. In fact quite the opposite is true. Fear wants you to run; it wants you to fight for your life. Fear is not a cognitive process it is a chemical process that induces stress, tension and high alert. Fear cannot be eliminated. In order to treat fear you need to get past it. It could be said that time resolves all fear but until it is resolved it needs to be either heeded or treated. If you want to trick fear you need to expend energy so that that part of your brain believes you either ran or fought. Since it has no cognition or memory it won't know you tricked it. All it will know is that the chemicals it dumped into your system to prepare for battle have been used up.

Did you know that prior to the Civil Rights movement nearly all the governors of the Southern States were Democrats? During its most racist days the Dems ruled?

Here is a list of who ran those states from the Executive Office as Governors

Mississippi from 1871-1992 all Democrats, 0 Republicans

Louisiana from 1877-1980 all Democrats, 0 Republicans

Georgia from 1872-2003 all Democrats, 0 Republicans

Alabama from 1874-1987 all Democrats, 0 Republicans

Arkansas from 1874-1981 all were Democrats except 1

(Hillary is a Southern Democrat from Arkansas born in 1947.)

When did equality really begin?

Under Republicans! Voting rights for Southern Blacks actually ushered in Republican management

But you! You vote Democrat and call Republicans Racists!

Why? Because you were taught propaganda and because you believe revisionist history!

Leftist Socialist Treachery

Some of the most radical ideologues and socialists like "Cloward and Piven" suggested that you formulate a state or condition that you want to be in place, then you create instability that brings down the current system. When the current system collapses, have your solution available in the time of crisis. You destabilize the current structure and when it falls or when you can motivate enough people to act, you offer your new state or condition as the only solution available.

Emotional Competitiveness is a Lose Lose

Many of us torment ourselves by comparing our insides to other people's outsides.

This is not rational; mostly because we can never be certain how another person feels just by looking at them.

Trying to do this is a form of competitiveness and an aspect of being judgmental. Since life is not a competition there is no way to keep score. No way to win win. All that really matters in life is how we value our own performance and behavior. Trying to find an external gage to measure or justify our contentment is ludicrous.

Quit!

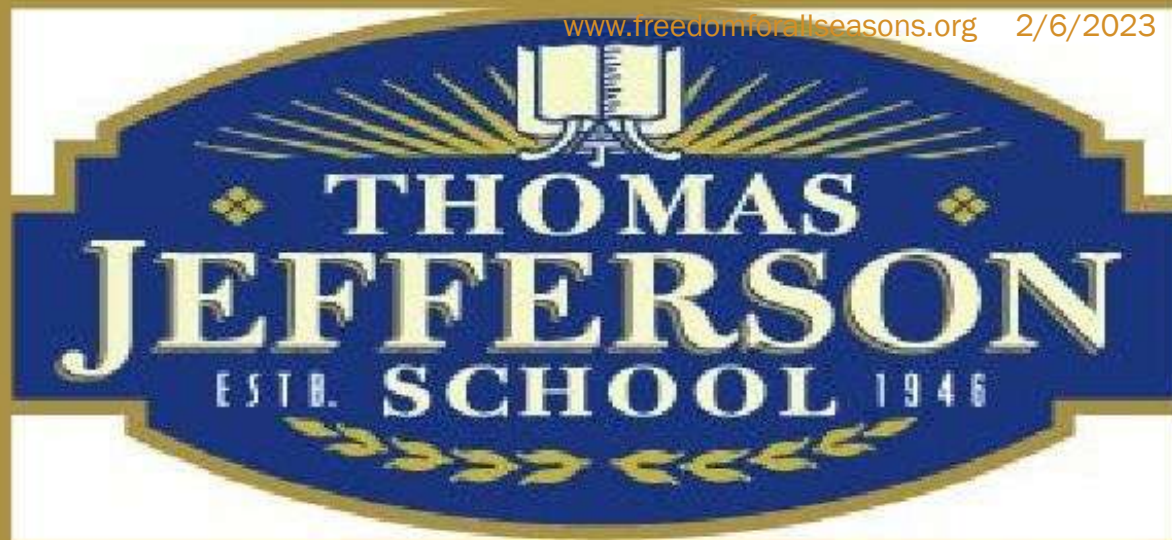

Is your landlord a white person?

Move!

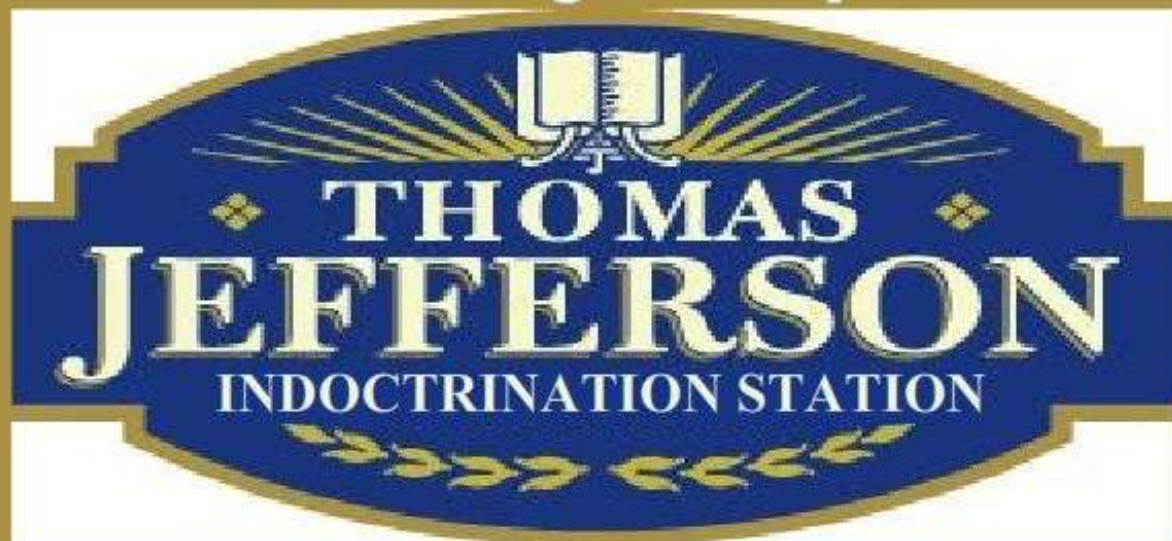

You should hit them where they live.

without them in it!

The single most destructive force in the Universe is not hate.

It's negativity.

The single most constructive force?

Positivity.

INFORMATION IS DEAD

The problem is not that the media elites were all wrong. They were.

The problem is not that they willfully mislead the American People. They did.

The real problem is that they believed their deception of the American People was for their own good.

The problem is that the core of the media establishment is managed by ideologues that are not motivated to tell you the truth; they don't think it's their job to give you the whole story.

They believe it is their life's mission to save you from yourself.

The real catastrophe is that the educators in the public school systems of America have joined them.

At its core, a communication problem is about words, symbols, meanings, definitions, perspectives, and interpretations.

The majority of people in modern society suffer more from what they are not being told than "how" things are being said.

They suffer more from what they don't say out loud than from how they say it!

The signature of a person that is not in their right mind nor in full possession of their faculties is not considered a valid signature.

A President that is not in full possession of their faculties can therefore not legally sign any form of legal document. They cannot sign an executive order nor can they sign a bill into law. Anyone knowingly facilitating such a signature is both breaking the law and exploited the diminished person.

Whenever you feel yourself being pulled into other people's drama or when people seem out of control, just repeat the following.

This is not my circus!
and these are not,,,
my monkeys!

Not News

We used to get all the news in 30 minutes, now they can't seem to give us half of it in 24 hours.

The only half we do get is the half that supports their bias political agendas.

ALL bias news agencies should lose their press credentials and be required to disclose their political leanings at the beginning of every "TV show" broadcast that is not REAL News.

We are NOT a country of Immigrants!

We are Americans and we have no other allegiance and we never have!

In fact more than 85% of the current population of the US was born here.

That in fact, makes us a country of Natural Born Americans who are not immigrants.
